THE RISING TIDE OF POVERTY

Last year, 2.2 million people became poor, continuing a trend that continues to grow stronger. This year it is expected that four million people will be added to the ranks of the poor.

One out of seven Americans if officially poor. that is, their total income is below the official poverty line. Over a third of blacks are poor, and the number of the new black poor are rising swiftly

In 1981, 34.2 percent of blacks were poor; this year the percentage should go to 36 percent or more. The last time such a large percentage of blacks were counted among the poor was in 1967.

Throughout the late sixties and early seventies the numbers trended downward By the time the 1974 recession hit, black poverty rates were down to 30 percent. Then there was a slow rise, followed by an accelerated push into poverty over the past three years.

The rising tide of poverty disproportionately engulfs black people and urbanites. Central city poverty rates are about 18 percent, double the rates for outlying areas.

One of the more tragic aspects of this is that even those terrible figures are understated. The so-called "poverty-line" is itself a fiction that obscures the extent of the problem.

Last year the official poverty line was $9,287 for an urban family of four. But the poverty line figure is derived from a crude calulation first formulated in the 1960s when researchers tabulated the minimum survival food budget and then made other adjustments to arrive at a total income picture that defined poverty.

But that survival budget was clearly intended to be a temporary measurement--a rule of-thumb figure based on just enough food to see a family through a few tough weeks, not a permanent budget.

So when we talk about the "poverty line" we are really talking about the survival line--the absolute minimum budget for a short period of time. That's why the government also has separate budgets for "minimum" moderate and higher level standards of living.

SCHOOLS SUFFER FROM CONFUSING GOP STATISTICS

Deep cuts to public education have been masked, and the ability of local school districts to pass special levies have been threatened by Republican claims that all is well with education in WA. State, say members of the State Senate Democratic Caucus. At a news conferenceSenate Democratic Leader R. Ted Bottiger (Graham) and Senator Marc Gaspard (Puyallup) said the pubic is being misled by GOP rhetoric that claims a 12% increase in education funding.

"By manipulating statistics and playing word games, they are able to show a huge increase , but in reality, education funding adjusted for inflation has decreased by 5.1%," Bottiger said. "Although state law mandates full funding of basic education, special ed, and transportation, these three programs are currently underfunded by a total of $133 million. The amount of classroom money available per student in the 1982-83 school year is the lowest since 1977."

The legislature is breaking its own laws by underfunding schools while its leaders are travelling the state saying the opposite is true, Bottiger explained.

He said the real danger will be apparent next spring when local school districts ask voters for larger levies. "I fear they won't pass because the people might be under the impression that special levies are not needed. Many districts need that levy money to comply with the laws we imposed upon them."

Both senators agreed education should not become a political issue.

ANOTHER MINORITY OWNED BUSINESS

On May 7 of this year, another Black-owned business was opened in the city. Avis Riley, the proprietor of Avis Arts& Crafts said "I want to share with others the crafts I make, by both custom making orders and teaching customers who wish to make items for themselves."

Riley, who is originally from Seattle, has been living in Tacoma for the past 10 years with her husband, Will, and their three (3) sons, who are 18, 15, and six years of age. "My family is supportive of me and the business which eases the strain of long hours away from home," stated Riley.

In the past, she was a state employee working in the Social Services Department and most recently she was employed at the Good Samaritan Hospital as the Coordinator of Employment Programs.

Avis Arts & Crafts produces plaster crafts, macrame objects, bead work, silk flowers and needle crafts in the form of embroidery, crochet, knitting, hairpin lace and items made with fabric (quilts and dolls). According to Riley," when customers wish to produce their own items, I feel that I do them a service because they will, in many cases, learn how to relax while creating with their hands items to be proud of."

Riley offers classes, by apointment, with no charge other than the cost of supplies. And with the help of her assistant, Margaret Troup, they sell supplies, teach customers and create items for display. "The item that is getting the most attention, at this time, is our macrame sound system hanging speaker tables," said Riley.

Avis Arts & Crafts is conveniently located at 1901 South 'K' St., Suite B and, if every anyone wanted to learn how to relax and at the same time be productive, Avis is on hand to show you how to do both.

CULTURAL NOTES

THE FRENCH are known for their passionate kissing but do you know that the Manyyans have a more fascinating way of Kissing?

They do it by rubing their noses. The more vigorous the nose rubbing, the more passionate the kiss.

Mangyans are the cultural minority of Mindoro. They number about a dozen tribes, each with a culture distinct in its own.

According to Rey Arquiza, chief of the information division of Panamin, Mangyans specially the Buhids and the Hanunoos express their love in metaphors, particularly in ambahan, an allegorical poem with lines of seven syllables each with rhyming end-syllables.

Courtship is short, even by today's standard. All it takes is the girl's consent to go to bed with a man and there and then they're married. The marriage must be accepted by everyone.

In order to win affection, the boys usually give the best fruits available in the community like saba, cannote or anything to their lady love.

Mangyan girls charm a prospective lover by their flirtatious smiles. Or if he boys is too dumb to get the message, the girl leaves her message, the girl leaves her botel nut chewing case in the boy's house. If the man returns the case if means he accept her and marriage follows. Another way is by bringing firewood. If the girl accepts the firewood, it means she accepts the man. If the girl splits it into small pieces, the bearer may stay only for a short time. HOW ABOUT THAT".

The three tackle football teams made magnificent debuts last Sunday in the Jamboree at Sprinkler Recreation Center. The fourth and fifth graders led by coaches Eugene Mobley, Keith Barrett and yours truly got off to a great start defeating Gonyea Boys' Club 7-0 and by stopping Eastide Boys' Club 7-6. Torey Hunter and Kenny Keyes led the offense as David Lewis and Tyrone Jackson received the defensive honors. The sixth grade squad led by coaches Jimmy Ervin and Mike Clark rattled Gonyea Boys' Club 14-0, and in the last game after recieving numerous penalties finally licked Lakewood 12-0. Lamonn Bennett was a key player on offense and defense as Dwayne Hill, Andre Allen and Eddie Cunningham contributed a lot to the 6th grade Hornets. Butch Batie, Malcolm Davis, Matt Doss and Ivan McIntosh had the 7th grade Cowboys fired up while flattening Ft. Lewis 6-0. Larry Foster threw a 12 yard pass to Marco Beal for the score. In the final game the Cowboys fell short to last years champions from Bethel Recreation with a score of 0-7. Overall all three teams played well considering the amount of time in pads. Between all three teams 5 out of 6 is not bad. All games will be held on Sunday afternoons at Sprinkler Recreation Center. For more details call 383-2371 ext 27.

The Cheerleaders looked well at the football games. Sharon Clark has done and excellent job organizing thirty girls to cheer for the football teams. NEED A JOB?

If you are a African decent and you need a job, you should know that Apartheid in South Africa is directly affecting you. Unemployment is rising and everybody's blaming the economy and high interest rates. At the same time many American Companies are closing down their plants over here and opening up new ones in South Africa.

General Motors, for example, recently closed several plants in America (including the one in Fremone, CA) while opening up new plants in S. Africa. By doing this, they don't have to pay their workers a respectable salary. This increases their profits and increases the number of people unemployed in America.

These companies plea that they're actually helping the Black people in S. Africa by giving them jobs. This plea is erroneous not only because they still underpay the Black employees, but because the Black people in S. Africa don't want foreign companies investing money in the racist system. Without foreign capital S. Africa would have long been free. The money invested by banks (like the Bank of America) is also used to by American weapons.

The struggle in S. Africa is growing and African Americans have a definite role and stake in the struggle. The American news media won't inform us about what's happening in S. Africa as they would about the events in Poland. As African Americans, we must take it upon ourselves to help free their (our) land. This job involves and effects us all.

Come To Church Services

PSALM 106:48

Blessed be the Lord, the God of Israel, from everlasting to everlasting! and let all the people say, "Amen!" Praise the Lord!

HOW MUCH IS GOD WORTH TO YOU?

For one thing, we show our answer to that question by the amount of effort we put into our worship. This reflects the fact that the English word "worship" originally meant "worth-ship." The work we put into our worship of God shows how much we think He's worth.

Public worship can be summed up in "Amen," the Hebrew word for "Yes." We say "Amen to our confession that we are sinners but that God forgives us.

I woke up late this morning, Rush to get things right. I had a dream the other night Someone wants to fight.

I stop and stare not knowing what to do, Just couldn't sleep for a day or too,

Just A Part Of Life.

I walked around through the night Going from place to place. Afraid to take any chances, even things like roo mancing.

Things these days just ain't right Everywhere I go people want to fight.

Just A Part Of Life

Yesterday I felt high and above the crowd holding up my head and stepping high laughing and talking feeling no pain. Out in the open, let it rain, let it rain.

Its All, Just A Part Of Life.
By Ernest White

FRIENDSHIP

Friendship is a precious gift Worth more then all the millions in the world. It cannot be begged, borrowed or stolen. It must be given.

But friendship must also be accepted for it cannot nourish with just one person. It would wither up and die.

Friendship needs attention and room to grow.

Trust and understanding and best of all; two friends.

FLU IMMUNIZATION ENCOURAGED

especially for high-risk individuals, according to the American Lung Association of WA.

Individuals considered high-risk are those with lung, heart, kidney, and metabolic disturbances or those 65 years old or older.

Health officials say that although the same flu viruses are expected this year, people do need to be immunized again because the effectiveness of last year's vaccine has expired. Flu types are expected to be A-Brazil, A-Bangkok, and B-Singapore.

Influenza deaths occur primarily among the high-risk indivioual s. Since 1968, more than 150,000 excess deaths are estimated to have occurred during flu epidemics in the U.S.

"The vaccination of all high-risk flu candidates is one of the most important preventive measures that we can take against the flu," says Doug Jackman, American Lung Association of WA. program director. "The vaccinations have proven to be seventy to ninety percent effective," Jackman says, "and an early immunization will allow the body to build up a strong defense."

More information on the influenza virus and its effects (and the availability of vaccine for high-risk groups) is available by writing the American Lung Association of WA., 543½ S. Tacoma Way, Tacoma, WA 98409; or, call 1-800-732-9339 or 474-9547 in Tacoma.

FEDERAL BLOCK GRANT

Pierce County Executive, Booth Gardner, announced today that Pierce County has beei awarded a grant of $68,000 from State Managed Federal Block Funds to meet initial expenditures for a community-based residential treatment program for mentally ill persons sustaining a 90-or 180-day commitment to Western State Hospital.

The Residential Treatment Program provides supportive living needs at the Country Estates Congregate Care Facility, Fife, and psychiatric therapy by a mobile treatment team based at Comprehensive Mental Health Center, Tacoma.

The community-based Residential Treatment Program for 90-or 180-day committed individuals is the first of its kind in WA. State.

Individuals designated for admission to Country Estates are chosen because psychiatrists determined that they will benefit from a more independent living experience in a community setting. High quality treatment will be provided; the patient is linked to community treatment and support systems while sustaining the 90 or 180-day commitment period.

Members of the committee include representatives of Western State and Puget Sound Hospitals, Comprehensive Mental Health Center, Country Estates Congregate Care Facility, DSHS and the Pierce County office of Social Services.

LIBBY BERRY SCHOOL OF LIVING OILS ANNOUNCES MAJOR BREAKTHROUGH IN ART INSTRUCTION

New unique method cuts learning time from years to weeks, enabling the average person to fulfill his dreams of producing high quality art immediately.

Now housewives, high school students, anyone who has ever had a desire to learn to paint--not just mediocre work, but real, high quality work that sells, and commands high prices, can do so, not in a matter of years as has been previously though--but in a matter of a few weeks. Others find fulfillment by producing high quality work for their own pleasure.

This is due to major discoveries made by Libby Berry, Whidbey Island artist, who, frustrated by the shortcomings of her own academic art training, learned her techniques by researching museums, galleries, and art dealers several years before discovering the keys to portraying life on canvas.

Beginning art student Burt Joseph, of Bellevue, calls his newly-found talent "outrageous," as he works on his first painting (a polar bear) Saturday in Coupeville.

As he puts the finishing touches on his painting of a lioness last week, Portland builder Michael Hale, who has had some prior painting experience, reflects on his new confidence that he can succeed as a full-time artist.

FIRST BLACK JOURNALIST EVER ELECTED TO CONGRESS

CBC WORKSHOP STUDIES ENTERPRIZE ZONE BILLS

The Congressional Black Caucus will open its 12th Annual Legislative Weekend in WA. D.C., on Friday, September 17, with workshops organized and chaired by its members.

Topics to be covered, from the Black perspective, range from civil rights to unemployment to business opportunities.

We will deal with several bills which have been proposed in Congress to carry-out the Enterprize Zone concept, rather than merely examine that concept in theory, as we had to do last year when I originated this workshop.

While several states, including Illinois, have passed their own Enterprize Zone laws, and many cities, including Chicago, have been urging Congress to act in this matter, President Reagan's delay in proposing a definite plan had kept us from acting.

Reagan's plan, finally unveiled last March, is now represented by Chafee's bill in the Senate and by Conable's in the House, though neither bill is likely to pass committee and reach the floor before next year. While basically the same as the bill submitted last year by Congressmen Kemp and Robert Garcia, the President's plan probably stands a better chance of passage than does any other such bills because of his greater influence. In fact, Kemp and Garcia have become co-sponsors of Reagan's bill.

The President's plan proposes investment tax credit, capital gains tax, payroll tax credit, employee's tax credit, operating lost carryover, industrial development bonds, foreign trade zones, and relaxation of federal regulations.

Under his bill, the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development would have the final authority to select the Enterprize Zones, but not more than 75 over a 3-year period, based on the following five eligibility standards:

1. An Enterprize Zone must have at least 4,000 residents if it is within a city of 50,000 or more;2) Its average unemployment must be at least 50% higher than the national average, which now is almost 10 percent;3) Its poverty rate in each census tract must be a least 20% 4)At least 70% of its households must have incomes one-fifth lower than the average for other residents of the city; and 5) Its population must have dropped at least 20% between 1970 and 80.

FOUR DANARA SQUEEZE TOYS MAY PRESENT CHOKING HAZARD TO INFANTS AND SMALL CHILDREN

The Consumer Product Safety Comission today announced that its staff has made a preliminary determination that four squeeze toys distributed by Danara International, Ltd., of South Hackensack, New Jersey, may cause choking and/or suffocation because the handles are small enough to lodge in the throat and obstruct the airway. Although these particular squeeze toys have not been involved in any choking incidents known to CPSC, similar shaped squeeze toys have been involved in choking deaths.

All four squeeze toys have bulbous shaped ends measuring 3/4" to 1½" in diameter. These toys are decribed as follows:

Mickey Mouse head on a yellow handle, 5½" long.

Mickey Mouse head on a yellow handle- 7" long.

Donald Duck head on a blue handle, 6&½" long.

Yellow mallet with mickey Mouse face and "MICKEY" embossed on handle, 7¼" long with a bulbous end.

These toys are made of soft, easily compressed plastic material and are packaged and sold under the brand name "SAFE-GUARD" and labeled "WALT DISNEY CHARACTER sqeek-a-Toy". The Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck toys are labled "No. 5523". The mallet is labeled "No. 5503". Stamped below the back of the neck of the Mickey-Mouse and Donald Duck toys is "WALT DISNEY PRODUCTIONS DANARA INTERNATIONAL LTD MADE IN TAIWAN".

For information call: CPSC's toll free hotline at 800-638-8326; Maryland-, 800-492-8353 Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin-Islands, 800-638-8333.

Monaco mourns Princess Grace

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP) — The body of Princess Grace lay in state today in a 13th-century palace chapel and her subjects came to pay respects to the Oscar-winning actress who left Hollywood 26 years ago but remained one of its most beloved stars.

The former Grace Kelly died in a Monaco hospital Tuesday at the age of 52 from a cerebral hemorrhage, about 36 hours after her car somersaulted 120 feet down a mountainside, trapping her inside.

Her funeral will take place Saturday at 11 a.m. (2 a.m. PDT) at the Roman Catholic Cathedral of Monaco, the royal palace announced.

Guards with black armbands stood vigil and flags flew at half-staff today atop the palace in honor of the princess, who reached stardom in 11 films that included High Noon, Dial M for Murder, Rear Window, and Country Girl, for which she won an Academy Award in 1955.

The glittering Monte Carlo casinos closed their doors for two days, flags were lowered to half-staff on the banks lining the Boulevard des Moulins and a championship soccer game was moved from the city.

Prince Rainier III was at his wife's bedside when she died, along with two of her children — Princess Caroline, 26, and Crown Prince Albert, 24, said Nadia Lacoste, who had been spokeswoman for Princess Grace.

Princess Stephanie, 17, sustained minor injuries in the car crash Monday and was under observation at the hospital named after her mother, palace officials said.

"The princess regained consciousness at some point before her death because she requested that if people were going to send flowers, they be small, simple flowers," Mrs. Lacoste said.

The princess died at 10:30 p.m. Tuesday (4:30 p.m. EDT). The palace said all possibilities of treatment had been exhausted by "late in the day."
